

Global Society

Editor-in-Chief:

Doug Stokes,
The University of Kent, UK

Associate Editors:

Andrea Den Boer,
The University of Kent, UK

Keith Hayward,
The University of Kent, UK

New Associate Editors for 2010!

 Routledge
Taylor & Francis Group

Journal of Interdisciplinary International Relations

Sociology Criminology Nationalism Identity
Terrorism International Relations Migration

A Shared Vision for Your Research

Global Society is a leading journal in the field of global and international relations. It is also committed to inter-disciplinarity and actively seeks to publish and encourage innovative approaches to the study of global and international issues from across the social sciences and humanities. An ever integrating global society raises a number of issues for scholars which do not fit comfortably within established 'Paradigms'. Among these are the international and global consequences of nationalism, migration, racism, religious fundamentalism, terrorism and criminal activities, famines, genocides, the spread of contagious disease and pestilence, and environmental degradation. Similarly, the globalisation of normative superstructures, such as of liberal capitalism, or of communications, such as the Internet, influences transactions at all levels and challenges state controls - for instance overflows of capital and of information. The new editorial team at Global Society would very much encourage article submissions from criminologists and sociologists working on subjects such as state and political crime, war and border studies, cyber crime, zemiology, transnational policing and security, cross-border criminality, social suffering and terrorism and counter terrorism studies.

Recent Articles

Terror in the Suites: Narratives of Fear and the Political Economy of Danger.

Ronnie D. Lipschutz

On Cruelty: Literature, Aesthetics and Global Politics.

Cerwyn Moore

"The Berlin Wall Crumbled Down upon Our Heads!": 1989 and Violence in the Former Socialist Multinational Federations.

Igor Štiks

Female suicide bombers - Male suicide bombing? looking for Gender in reporting the suicide bombings of the Israeli-Palestinian conflict.

Claudia Brunner

Foucault's Concept of Power and the Global Discourse of Human Rights.

Ivan Manokha

"... we are being left to burn because we do not count": Biopolitics, Abandonment, and Resistance.

Anna Selmezi

Rethinking the Roots of Terrorism: Beyond Orthodox Terrorism Theory—A Critical Research Agenda.

Jason Franks

The Pain of Susan Sontag.

Stephen Chan

Dichotomies and Paradoxes: The West and Islam.

Xing Li

Tracking Computer Hacking: The Dangers of Cyber Terrorism.

Johanna Granville

Cosmopolitan Justice and Cultural Diversity.

Simon Caney

Doug Stokes,
The University of Kent, UK

Andrea Den Boer,
The University of Kent, UK

Keith Hayward,
The University of Kent, UK