

The Black Identities Project

led by Brianah Carter, Doctoral Candidate
bc515@kent.ac.uk

EARN EMPLOYABILITY POINTS FOR PARTICIPATION!

SCAN THE CODE TO REGISTER YOUR INTEREST

Challenge your development!

Your participation is instrumental to defining the Kent Uni Black experience.

Contribute to the conversation!

Check out my website for more information!

What is the Black Identities Project?

My name is Brianah, and I am conducting research about ethnic-racial identity development using the Listening Rooms method. The goal is to understand how university experiences affect the development of Black student identities.

In the Listening Rooms, you and a partner of your choosing will simply have a discussion. No interference, just two peers recounting their lives and attendance at Kent Uni!