Medway Research Festival

Wednesday 10th September 2014
Pilkington Open Space 2pm-6pm

The second annual Medway Research Festival will be an informal opportunity to meet research staff and students from all three universities that share the Medway Campus.

Posters, stalls and demonstrations will offer a starting point for discussions with others about their research. The event is free and open to all academics, researchers and postgraduate students, and refreshments will be available.

You can just drop in, but it would be useful to get a sense of numbers expected, so please do contact Dr Helen Leech (h.leech@kent.ac.uk) if you intend to come.
