

Dr. Riccardo Sapienza is a Lecturer in Physics at King's College London. Following on from an independent (Ramon y Cajal) five-year fellowship at ICFO–The Institute of Photonic Sciences (Barcelona), where he started to develop his own research line in nano-optics of complex media, he is currently leading a research group in complex nanophotonics at King's College London. He received his Master in Physics in 2001 from the University of Padova in Italy, and Ph.D. in Physics from LENS, The European Laboratory for Non-Linear Spectroscopy (Florence) and LKB-ENS (Paris).

Before joining King's he worked at the ICMN Instituto de Ciencia de Materiales de Madrid, the Langevin Institute in Paris and the ICFO The institute of Photonic Sciences in Barcelona.

More information: <http://www.kcl.ac.uk/nms/depts/physics/people/academicstaff/sapienza.aspx>