

We work at the University of Kent. We are doing research to find out if people can have a say:

- in where they live, or
- who supports them.

We are doing this research because we want people to have better support to make decisions about their life.

We want to talk to people about what it was like to find:

- somewhere to live, or
- someone to support them.

If you want to talk to us, please let us know. Contact Beckie Whelton

Even if you say yes now, you can still change your mind later.

Thank you.
