

National Trust

Looking for adventure? Look no further.

Volunteering is a great way to try new things out. It made me really aware of who I am and what I like doing, and gave me a lot more confidence talking in front of the public.

Naomi, House Volunteer, Scotney Castle

Life is one long adventure and we'd love to be part of your next one. Our team is full of inspiring people from all walks of life who get a real buzz from working and learning together.

At Scotney Castle, you'll get amazing experience working with the public in a busy attraction that welcomes around 125,000 visitors a year. And you'll be part of The National Trust, the largest conservation charity in Europe, so there's lots of added perks too!

So, if you enjoy interacting with other people, have great communication skills, are friendly, willing to learn new skills and are looking for a volunteering opportunity where you can really make a difference, why not get in touch with us?

Email: scotneycastle@nationaltrust.org.uk or call 01892 893820.