

Tuesday 11th March, 2014

6-8pm

BridgeWardens College, Lecture Theatre

Presenting - Dr Jennifer Walshe

Dr Jennifer Walshe will present her recent work. She is a composer, performer and visual artist of whom the Irish Times has said that "without a doubt, hers is the most original compositional voice to emerge in Ireland in the last 20 years".

Jennifer Walshe says of her work that "the sounds I am interested in include those that we hear all the time but are normally considered flawed or redundant: twigs snapping in a burning fire, paper tearing, breathing, instrumental sounds that aren't considered 'beautiful' in standard terms. I think these sounds have their own beauty in the way that pebbles on a beach or graffiti can have."

Upcoming Seminar:

Tuesday, March 25, 2014

The Rebirth of Music from the Spirit of Drama - Jean Martin

View our Research Seminar webpage

View the Events Calendar

